

Writing (poetry)

Australia

July 3 to August 1, 2013

I am an Australian poet who currently lives in Seoul, South Korea (where I teach in the English Literature program at Sogang University). I am coming to Yerevan to finish a manuscript of conceptual villanelles, in which I will recycle and synthesize text from a disparate range of sources: philosophers (Kant, John Cage, Walter Benjamin), canonical poets (20th century), gravestones, advertising, newspaper headlines, etc. I will be fascinated to walk through the Armenian version of reality for a month later this year, and look forward to meeting local and visiting artists while there. Further details about who/what I am are located at www.dandisney.com

Dan Disney